

SPIRITS 1985 - 86

STUDENT COUNCIL

On behalf of the entire Student Council I would like to take this time to thank the Administrators, our Advisors, and the Secretaries for their input and help. I would also like to thank the rest of the Executive and Social Committee, for their many hours of effort in organizing dances and other special activities.

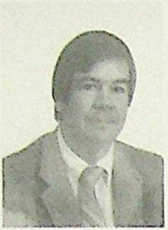

It takes more than a council by themselves to liven up the school. It takes the co-operation and spirit of the students as well. Highlands is lucky to have a group of people that are willing to jump in and participate.

Thank-you for your support throughout the years. Good luck in the future.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF 9A

When Suzanne and I walk into the classroom Lisa, Deanna, Marni and Kim gather around Carrie's teacher sized desk. They are all gabbing about who they thought got the highest mark on one of Mr. Potapoff's famous Social tests. They mentioned Munir for the highest mark, but then I heard Shawn Tripp for the lowest. Stephen is making stupid faces while Lyle, Robert and Peter copy unfinished homework off of each other.

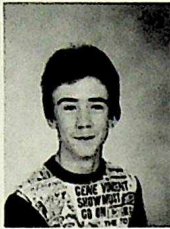

We're reading silently when all of a sudden I hear 'Brrr!' Oh, Oh! Matt again! I hear a smack and I look up to see Tara, Kristi and Shannon glaring at him. Mrs. Bla walks in, yells at Steven for being late again, sits down at her desk, pulls out her camera and snaps a couple of pictures. The bell rings and it is time to change classes. On the way Rob is carrying his army bag and laughing at Ravic because he has to duck under the doorways because he is so tall. Christy just screamed something about Mark Holmes of Platinum Blonde to Polly, but she isn't listening. She is too busy laughing at Glen who is handing out lollipops to everyone. Corey, Darcy and Guy are fighting over who gets the yellow one. No more fighting guys! Jonkman will come and make sure you go to one of his Math Help Classes after school.

When we get to Mr. Dunwoody's room, Ian, Sridhar, Kathy and Kim are trying to talk him out of giving us a test, but he isn't listening. He is trying to get Clarence back into the cage. It seems that he got out mysteriously and crept in to Mr. Mackenzie's office. (Great try Massey and Parker! Better luck next time!)

As the day drags on, many weird incidents like this happen, but anything can be expected in a day with 9A.

"Hi Sean," "Hi Brent. "Hi Laverne." "Hi Kordell." "Ugh, Shawnette. We get double Breitreuz today." "Oh, Sandra! Did you have to mention it. Hi Donna." "Hi Cher, How are you today?" "Could be better, how about you Teil?" "Better than you, your throat sounds terrible. Hi V-V!"

The morning started with a bang, hallways cleared as the bell rang. "Yipes, I'm late!" Kathy runs up the last two steps and dashes into the room. "Hey Sean, you got anything to eat?" Kathy and Shawnette eating so soon. Apples and cookies crunching a tune. "Kathy what are you doing? Throw away that apple. You know I try my dead level best, but you insist on being so....so....so impish!" Immediately Jennifer got up, to look up the word "impish" in the word book.

Shannon and Kelly are late for class, Mr. B. will kick their -----, "He always gets himself so worked up!" said Hsiang to Warren. "That's it Hsiang, I've had enough out of you. Get out!" There is Stuart looking grim, he hasn't recovered from his broken limb.

Jennifer started reading her definition. "Jennifer you're speaking out of turn!" "Mr. Breitreuz don't bug Jennifer, you're the one that said the word "impish." said Clay. "Eden calm down!" Shayne said. There goes Eden jumping around; Oops! look he's on the ground.'

"Margaret, do you have your math done?" "What answer do you need Donna?"

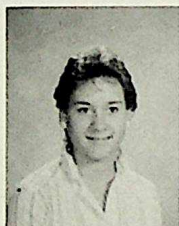

Patty and Kim ask, "What's going on? It's a quarter to 9 and where is John?"

"Hey Frost. Do we have a L.A. test today?" "Ya, it's supposed to be hard too, did you study Dale?" "Here Scott do you want some gum?" "Okay, thanks Debbie."

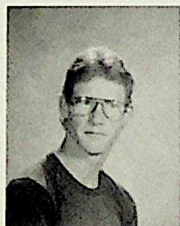

We can all hear Brent singing proud, singing to the Preppies of our crowd.

"I bet Kevin can beat Barry in an arm wrestle" "No way, have you seen Barry go?" "You guys shut up!" Tina shouted.

Reading time again once more, Out the windows reading books galore. And another day starts in the life of 9B

School has been known to be dull. 9C is the exception to the rule.

Here's what we mean:

During Homeroom: A piece of paper has been transformed into a volleyball, the class a court, for a little game between James, Randal, Brian and John VS Michelle. (Fair eh?) Robby??? Where's Rob??? He's cruisin' the hallways trying to fulfill his dream to date every girl in the school before the year is over. What about Alex's sweaters? They're nice sweaters, but I'm afraid one day he'll come in singing a Mr. Roger's tune. Now Mr. Dunwoody is searching the room high and low for his hijacked Fast Mac. Shau-na is sneaking into the library and trying unsuccessfully, to return her overdue books. Oh, and Tanya's shoes! She sounds like a herd of wild, insane tap dancers as she stomps her way to class. Derek is still believing that the drums from the Talent Show are his. It's ten to nine and Carla is just walking into the room ready for a day filled with painful sneezes.

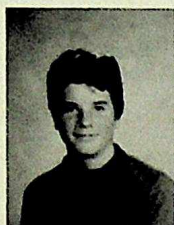

First class is Math: Mr. Jonkman is a tad late and Damian is happily teaching the class. Angie is still day-dreaming that Motley Crue came just for her. To have an update on all the Soap Operas and Game Shows, ask Stacy who has just returned from a week long vacation. Treena is now trying to fix her hair after Robbie has just messed it, again. Lisa is telling every one about Suzanne's conservation of energy by brushing her teeth in the shower. I wonder what else she does in there to conserve energy??

Next comes Social: Tim has an obsession with war and I wonder what will happen when the Russian Ballet comes to Edmonton? Russell is deciding what he is going to do with all the money he will make in the 3-D Scratch and Sniff business. Strawberries, ice cream, mousse... Mousse?? Yup, that's the flavour of the day of Paul's mousse breakfast. That sometimes slow, sometimes quick motion, so perfect, so smooth, Jason's worn down comb is once again going through his hair. Need an answer, don't ask Wendy she keeps those to herself!!

Then we have Gym: Bryan B. is trying unsuccessfully to convince Mr. Biggs that he can play volleyball with his dress shoes on. Sue, always thinking of the future is practising careers in stripping and opera singing while changing at the same time. Joanne is our weak-kneed, yet most aggressive Indoor Hockey player; don't ever get caught in a dark alley with her! Lynette, the most multi-talented person I know is once again playing goalie and defense, at the same time, much to the dismay of the other team. Marlene, forever trying to look beautiful is fixing her hair. A little gel here and a little gel there.

In Option Class: Darryl is just walking in from the Twilight Zone. See the picture above this article? Carlos took that one! (We're so proud!) Meanwhile, Zarha the health nut, snacks upon her lunch, consisting of Chocolate Covered Almonds and Cough Drops. Then- Winnie's giggles. She sounds like she's hiccupping and having an asthma attack at the same time. This sounds even better when it's amplified throughout the entire school during announcements!

Before the locker "crunch", when Paul and Jason discover the pickle fiend has been at it again, Sue attempts one more time to teach Clarence to kiss through glass.

And so ends another "average" day for 9C

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF 9D

Another 9D morning, everyone is sitting around the classroom gossiping. The time is 8:30 and Dennis walks in the room and pops his world famous question, "Who finished their homework?" and a chorus of, "I did's" and, "I didn't's" follows. Eun-Ah turns around and starts talking to Thuy, while Amal talks to anyone who listens. Suddenly a strange noise arises from the back of the room, Oh! It's only Michael.

Amal
MERALI

As the final seconds count down Karen sits in anticipation for the bell to ring so she can mark half the class late. The bell rings, Delilah's late as usual, she probably tripped over her earrings (what an athlete)!!! Mrs. Vansickle starts reciting, "Jason, fourth late, 300 lines. Joanne, third late, 200 lines...."

Delilah
MINDE

It's reading time and Cydney is indulging in her pictures of Vince Neil. Laura pokes Cydney on the back trying to get her attention. Seeing that she is not succeeding, Laura calls out, "Look! It's Vince Neil!" In a second Cydney is up scanning the room for Vince. As usual Luan cracks up with laughter. 8:50, Darren walks in. Everyone that is reading a boring book looks up and watches Darren's every move as he stumbles over to his desk. And stumble he does, Darren manages to trip over his own feet and land flat on his face. What is that noise! Everyone looks up, even Cydney, and starts staring at Amal. Amal is laughing so hard she almost falls out of her seat.

Russel
MORIN

9:00 the bell rings and everyone gets up to go to Math. In the hallways Dennis starts to serenade Judy. Cydney is trying to ignore Darryl and Doug's criticism. Amal and Florence are trying to tell Eun-Ah how gorgeous John Taylor is. Eun-Ah doesn't really care. Arrgghh! Shao just got hit in the arm by a paper ball. Duck everyone here comes another one! Jeff, who's throwing the paper balls ends up hitting an innocent bystander. Oh well!

We enter Mr. Breitkreuz's room, Gary is so tall he has to bend down to get through the doorway. Oh no! It's Jo-Anne's birthday, that means Mr. Breitkreuz gets to sing us his version of Happy Birthday. Everyone brace yourself.

I don't believe it, we lived through Math Class. As we move on to Social, Xuan and Amal try to rate Mr. Breitkreuz's singing. It was pretty awful. About halfway through Social Michael is told to move to the back of the room. Five minutes later he still hasn't moved. Bang! Just like that he gets his name up on the board. This means he has a half hour detention after school. A couple of minutes later a paper ball flies across the room. The guilty party is from somewhere in the back. All eyes are fixed on Jason, Shao, Dennis and Darryl. Right away they blame it on Dennis. Dennis retaliates with a fifteen minute debate about how it was Jason and not he, who threw the paper ball. Just for that, Dennis and Jason get their names on the board. Cydney starts to laugh and her name is added to the list.

After Social the morning starts moving faster. Our class moves on to their 9-1 Option, then regroups for L.A.. Right off Mrs. Vansickle checks to see if everyone has their reading book. L.A. moves quickly, lucky us. It's lunch time and we all go our own ways and then regroup in the afternoon.

Most of 9D is in the classroom, again gossiping. The first bell rings and Karen is marking down little "L's" by Russell's, Mark's, Sherr's and Darren's names. Mrs. Vansickle isn't in the room yet. It's amazing that things aren't getting out of hand. Oh no! A fight! Wouldn't you know it, Cydney is in the middle of it. You would think Amal would be in this but since it's about Vince Neil again, Amal would rather ignore it. Dennis is making a big issue about all this, while Laura is fighting back for Cydney. Claudia and Eun-ah listen intently, and in the background you can hear Darryl and Doug cheering Dennis on. The second bell rings and everything stops. Cydney gives one last glare at Dennis.

After announcements Cydney and Laura take off out the door trying to get as far away from Dennis as they can. Dennis starts mumbling to himself down the hallway, Lisa turns around and gives him a strange look. We walk into Mr. Breitzkreuz's room again, but this time it's for Science. When Teryl walks into the room she is reminded about the last five tests she has missed. During the class everyone is intently listening (surprise, surprise) except Edwin. He is trying to steal everyone's bag from under their desk. By the end of the class they have succeeded in stealing two bags and four binders! A pretty good day's work. Our next class is 9-2 Option. So for the last class we head back to L.A. with Mrs. Vansickle. Again it's the same old Language Arts class, nothing much exciting. The whole class, at about 2 minutes to 3:01, starts watching the clock, quietly counting down the final seconds. The bell rings and everyone is off. This is quickly halted by Mrs. Vansickle's famous words, "the bell doesn't dismiss you I do." We are then free to go. Ah! the end of another day. We all give each other our good-byes and quickly leave the halls of Highlands Jr. High where tomorrow we will all start another fun and exciting day.
